

team. In the second inning with the two teams in a scoreless tie, he hit a Triple to Right Field that scored. Ralph R. Jenkins and Sammy Pouliot, the latter with what proved to be the tying run. Sandler later scored on a high sacrifice fly to deep right field by Frank Purtell with what proved to be the winning run. All considered, the P. A. C. pitcher had a gala night.

The game brought out the largest crowd of the year and furnished more thrills and interesting moments than any of the contests played thus far this season.

The C. M. A. C. team put up a wonderful exhibition. Not one error was made. Several sensational plays were turned in by the losers. None was more spectacular than the catch made by Duncan Pare in the latter half of the third inning with men on second and third for the P. A. C. and two down.

After McDonagh had singled with two down in this inning, Ralph R. Jenkins hit a fly between left field and third base. By fast running McDonagh Reached Third ahead of the ball and Jenkins went to second. Pouliot, the next batter, had hit a single in the first time at bat. He came to bat determined to push two runs across the plate. With the count two and two on him, Pouliot met the fifth pitch right on the nose. The ball went to deep right field toward the flag pole.

A ball hit in this direction, passing the flag pole while still in the air, usually means a home run with the crack of the bat, however. Pare went running with all the speed that he could muster, toward the pole. He just barely escaped crashing into the pole as he caught the ball for one of the prettiest catches ever pulled off on the common. The play brought a great hand from the crowd.

For a while it looked as though the erratic fielding of the P. A. C. team would cost the nine the game. C. M. A. C. scored three runs but not one was really earned. Four errors, two by Chick McDonagh and two others by Eddie Klatka, were the big factors in the scoring of the three C. M. A. C. runs.

Leo "Flash" McHale outplayed the rest of the P. A. C. team in the field. If Red Sandler worked hard to win the game it remained to McHale to save it. McHale was credited with seven chances in last night's game but this does not even begin to tell of

for the winners. McHale robbed at least four of the C. M. A. C. batters of hits with his sensational stops and throws to Sammy Pouliot at first base. Then in the last inning with men on second and third with two men down and the P. A. C. enjoying a 4 to 3 lead, he saved the game once more and this time for good. A Bellaire faced a hard one between second and short. McHale got the ball on his shoe tips. The dive from Bellaire's bat was coming so fast that for a moment McHale was thrown off balance. However, he recovered in time to throw accurately to Pouliot at first base. Bellaire and give the P. A.

and on the second pitch to Marcotte. Pare took third on a passed ball. Marcotte hit to Chick McDonagh at third. McDonagh let the ball go through his legs and Pare scored. Ward ended the inning by fanning. C. M. A. C.

Scored the Last Run of the game in the fourth. Legrand started off by flying out to Souza in centerfield. Leduc struck out. Shorty Gendreau singled over the infield. Herman Gendreau doubled and Shorty took third. Klatka faked at throwing to third and threw the ball in the general direction of Sandler, the P. A. C. pitcher. The ball went over Sandler's head and Gendreau scored. Frank Purtell ran to pick up the ball and, instead of making an unnecessary throw to the plate for Shorty Gendreau, he showed real baseball sense by doubling up Herman Gendreau between second and third. Gendreau was put out, ending the inning. This was the last of the scoring. The score:

NOTES.

It was a great game. The largest crowd of the season was kept on edge from the start to the very end.

The collection was just below $100, the biggest yet.

The C. M. A. C. and P. A. C. meet again tomorrow night. What a game that ought to be.

Red Sandler pitched a whale of a game.

That catch made by Duncan Pare was a peach. They don't make 'em any better.

Leo McHale covered himself with glory throughout the contest.

Sammy Pouliot ought to come in for his share of the credit for last night's victory. Pouliot certainly did good work at first base.

EBBETS
Y. Aug. 17. (P) - York center fielder, knocker after two minutes in the first feature bout. Spectators saw the first round before Tony with a series of punches to the chin that rendered him unconscious for the count. Canzoneri, 124; Canzoneri out the start and two light jabs. The largest field season in National league. Joe Glick, New York, won an over Andre Routhier, weight, in a 10-round fight. Glick weighed 130 lbs. A sizzling 10 round between Sammy Dorfman and East Side sharpshooter Anderson, 130. Wyoming ended in a draw.

Sandler's triple to right field made possible when Pare fell. The play made a shoe string of the game.

Marcotte, Allard and Pare made three errors in the game for the C. M. A. C.

Dave Turcotte was in the game every second.

Had Ed Bellaire started to pitch the C. M. A. C. undoubtedly would have won the game. Bellaire was in great form while he pitched.

C. M. A. C. vs South Ends tonight. The game ought to be another of those thrillers that City Twi fans have been getting of late.

BOY FALLS FROM BRIDGE AND DROWNS

ENFIELD, Aug. 17. (P) - While walking across the railroad bridge on his way to see his father who was working in a field nearby, Clement L. Lucier, aged 7, fell into the Swift river and was drowned late Tuesday afternoon. Shortly after supper he was missed by his parents. This morning about 10 o'clock his body was found in the water under the bridge. Medical Examiner W. B. Segui reported that the body bore no bruises.
